SUMMARY

Energetic writer and editor with 20+ years of communications and business experience and a true love for the written word. Proven ability to motivate, mentor, and guide creative teams to new levels of success. We can't be friends if you don't love the serial comma.

NICE THINGS MY BOSSES HAVE SAID

"Christine is an excellent big-picture editor. She sees the story as more than just the words, but how those words work with images to communicate ideas."

"Christine's greatest strengths are her energy and enthusiasm, her ability to work well with people, and her written and oral skills. She is both a great organizer and a creative thinker."

"Christine is the kind of writer/editor who gives thoughtful consideration to all of her work and always has a clear reason for the actions she takes."

A FEW OF MY PASSIONS

Print magazines. There is still a place for well-written, beautifully designed publications that can be read in a bathtub without threat of electrocution.

My military-support website. As a proud Army spouse, I founded TheStrengthBehindTheStrong.com for those with loved ones in the U.S. military.

Romance novels. I've been a fan since seventh grade. I have written two and am in search of an agent.

experience

FREELANCE JOURNALIST

2003-Present | Clayton, New York

Writer, editor, and project manager for national consumer magazines, books, newsletters, and custom publications. My specialty is home and family issues, including interior design, architecture, real estate, food, health, and personal finance.

Hundreds of writing credits include Renovation Style, Midwest Living, Do It Yourself, and Junk Market Style magazines; countryhome.com and metlife.com; and books such as Better Homes and Gardens New Cook Book: Bridal Edition.

As project manager, I guided the creation and production of MetLife Auto & Home's magazine MetLife, Your Life (2003-2008) and the book Leeza Gibbons Scrapbooking Traditions. Most recently, I was the Executive Editor of Flea Market Style magazine (2010-2017).
