Sterling Silver Seahorse Pin

Wear your seahorse with pride! Sterling silver seahorse pin.

The Virginia Destination Bracelet

Old Dominion is the nickname given to the history-filled Commonwealth of Virginia, site of the first permanent settlement in North America. The Virginia Destination Bracelet is a tribute in precious metals to the birthplace of our first president and "The Birthplace of a Nation." The elegant "V" proudly stands as a testament to the strength and vigor of this historic state, and an "A" is surrounded by a "historic triangle" of three stars. An unmistakable dogwood blossom is symbolic of Virginia's beauty and diversity and the two symbols join together representing the hook that Virginia has on the hearts of millions. The twelve single strand 14K Gold wraps represent the twelve sister colonies of the Republic that along with proud Virginia, stood up and demanded freedom for us all. Honor our American heritage and this extraordinary state with the Virginia Destination Bracelet, a true symbolic treasure. An original signature design by Mitchell Ousley for the Destination Bracelet Collection.

The original line in the play is "all that glistens is not gold". The modern idiom uses the word "glitters," which is a variance of the early modern English word "glistens." (See our piece on misquoting Shakespeare.) The full quote reads "All that Glitters" references the saying, "All that glitters is not gold." Cordae reflects on his own memories of good times and struggles as a youth trying to make money, though leading a sometimes violent and reckless lifestyle, and the people around him and their economic struggles as well as their brushes with crime and police brutality. He emphasizes that the freedom you're chasing isn't always as far as it seems and money isn't the key to success or happiness. "All That Glitters" Track Info. Written By Mudi (US) & Cordae.
